

My pre war autobiography

My name is Brooke Gillard and I live on Armes Street in Heigham, Norwich. I am nine years old. I was born on the 3/3/1901. I live with my mum, dad, sister and brother. My house is a two up two down terrace house. I have to share rooms with my two sisters and my one brother. My house has a toilet outside but it is the worst because if it is cold I get cold when I go outside to go to the toilet.

When I was younger I went to Wensum Junior School. My favorite lesson was P.E. My best friend is called Lola. We enjoy skipping. We use a rope. My favorite food is Jam. My mum gets jam and puts it in bread then you can eat it. My teacher is nice and he is called Mr Jeffrey. If you were bad you would get slapped with a ruler.

My current occupation is a factory worker and I make chocolate. I get paid ten pounds a week. But I can provide for my family. It takes me about half an hour to walk to my job. My job beats working at a workhouse cause I have money.

A moment in my life that I will always remember is the flood of Heigham. A man called Jeffrey could swim down the street. On the first day it was not that bad. The second day it was so high I was trapped in my room. I was so worried. The flood was bad and I lost my toys.
